MOTORCYCLE GARMENTS TESTED IN EXTREME CONDITIONS

Fuel MOTORCYCLES

Our products are subjected to a wide range of conditions and environments, ranging from hot, dry deserts to cold, wet mountains, and everything in between. To ensure that these products are able to perform well and provide riders with the protection they need.
Overall, the goal of these tests is to ensure that motorcycle equipment is able to provide riders with the protection they need, no matter what conditions they may encounter on the road and off-road.

Enduro /Trail 250cc a 500cc

Equipment line designed for 100% off road use. Made mostly of ripstop fabric which has a great lightness/resistance ratio. Its durability and ripstop protection make it perfect for extreme use. As for the structure of the jacket as the trousers have enough space to carry your own armor and knee protections without problem. A very light and resistant equipment with multiple vents, detachable sleeves and neo-retro design for enduro and off road enthusiasts.

FUEL X ROYAL ENFIELD COLLECTION

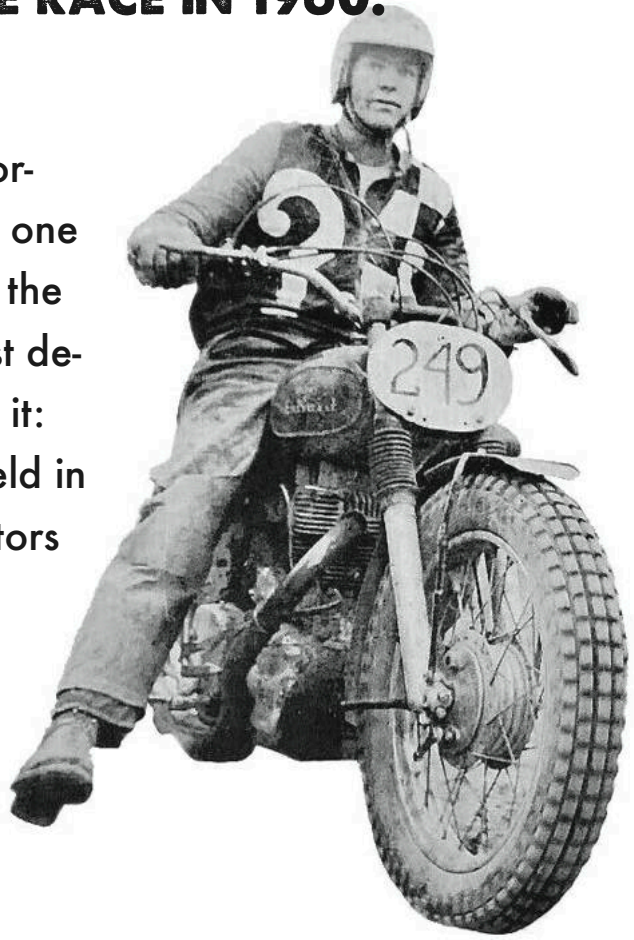

NEW COLLECTION

FUEL MOTORCYCLES X ROYAL ENFIELD

INTRODUCING A COLLECTION FOR THE NEW ROYAL ENFIELD INTERCEPTOR BEAR 650, A MOTORCYCLE INSPIRED BY THE STORY OF EDDIE MULDER, THE LEGENDARY RIDER WHO WON THE BIGGEST DESERT MOTORCYCLE RACE IN 1960.

The story begins in January 1960 when a 16 year old Californian named Eddie Mulder achieved an impressive victory in one of the most important motorcycle races in the United States, the Big Bear Run. It wasn't just the fact that Mulder beat the best desert racers of the time that made history, but the way he did it: coming from behind after losing a footrest on his Royal Enfield in the middle of the race, and overtaking hundreds of competitors to finally take the trophy.
